The nomination followed an all night session of the "hordes of denizens" who had gathered at the home of the great commoner.

to the nomination of vice-president. The nominating speeches are limited to ten minutes; the second speeches to five.

At 1:25 the vice-presidential candidate situation was greatly mixed and several ballots seemed probable.

Kern, of Indiana; Mitchell, of Illinois; and Gray, of Indiana, seem to be in the lead.

Marcel, of Delaware, says Gray will not run nor serve as vice-president if elected.

When the New York delegation reached the hall the rank and file of its members did not know who they were to vote for in the vice-presidential nomination.

Alabama yields to Indiana. Marshall, of Indiana, named Kern for vice-president.

LINCOLN GOES WILD WITH ENTHUSIASM

Lincoln, Neb., July 10.—In honor of the nomination of Bryan the citizens of Lincoln united in a noisy celebration this morning. The demonstration was non-partisan. Whistles sounded and this was followed by a variety of noise-making devices. Bands paraded the streets and crowds gathered at various hotels prepared to go to Fairview.

There was a great outpouring of the friends, neighbors and admirers of Bryan at Fairview today. They came from all parts of Lancaster county to pay their respects to Mr. and Mrs. Bryan and so tender and fervent were their expressions of good will and congratulation that at times both Mr. and Mrs. Bryan were visibly affected and in a short speech Bryan was obliged to stop because of his emotion. He did not touch upon politics.

Preparations for the hanging are now being made at the State prison at Canon City. The crime for which Alia is to pay the death penalty was committed in St. Elizabeth's Roman Catholic church in this city at early mass Sunday morning, Feb. 3, the time being about 6 o'clock. Alia, kneeling with the worshippers at the foot of the altar and Father Heinrichs placed the sacred wafer of the communion on his tongue. ney" in which bursts of eloquence and enthusiasm delayed the forenoon conclusion for hours, and after speeches by Dunn, Glenn, Thomas, Heila, Sullivan, Powers, Swanson, and James, naming and seconding

Bryan's nomination was immediately made unanimous and pandemonium broke loose.

The long night's vigil was over. The work was accomplished and the scene that followed beggars description.

Delegates climbed onto chairs and waved flags, hands played, galleries yelled and then began the parades.

Up and down the hall went the standards of the states, dazed by delegates showing the enthusiasm of college boys after a football victory.

All night the delegates and visitors had been bored to listen to the flow of oratory from the silver-tongued leaders.

Moved to frequent outburst of feverish excitement cheers and marching had delayed the progress of the convention.

The committee on platform had been delayed in making its report. It was forced to deliberate over many details.

Even though the nominating speeches had begun being made. Even though the clock had been put back to two minutes of twelve so Bryan would not have the Friday Holid, the committee came in after midnight and the proceedings stopped to hear their report.

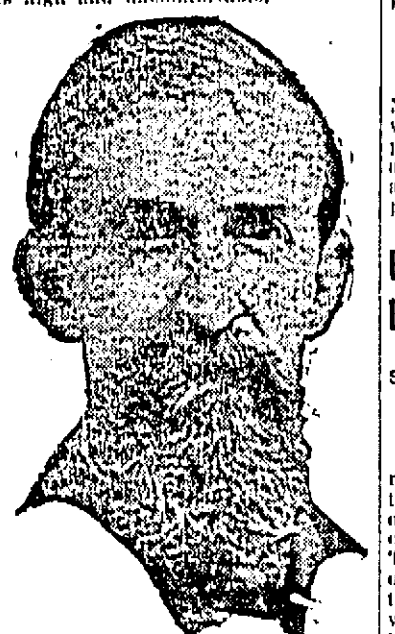

First came the enumeration of the party principals. This was received with close attention and frequent demonstrations of assent.

One by one the different planks were read and approved of by the audience with vocal demonstration.

The platform was adopted unanimously.

Convention Hall, July 10.—At one o'clock, the hour to which the convention adjourned, not one-fourth of the delegates were in their seats and they were coming slowly into the hall. Today the heat is even greater than yesterday. The temperature in the hall is high and uncomfortable.

PRESENT OUTLOOK IS EXCEPTIONALLY GOOD

Prospects for Banner Tobacco Crop are Very Good at Present.

During the past week the tobacco crop has made wonderful strides. O. M. Coon of Rock Prairie is the first to show specimens of this year's growth that give promise of good results. Several large leaves picked from his large fields were brought into the Gazette office showing remarkable development for so early in the summer.

Up in Edgerton according to the Tobacco Reporter.

There is little developing about the local tobacco market these days worthy of mention. A little skirmishing around the market still goes on. Warehouse handling has not yet completed in several of the packing points, but this business is fast drawing to a close.

The bulk of the trading now being done is among packers and generally of a low grade order. The sale of the '07 packing by Henry Thompson of some 2500s is reported to A. Johnson & Son, O. G. Hanson has been receiving some purchases in Vernon county this week.

Old time continues to move sparingly on manufacturers' orders principally and aside from an increased demand prices do not show much improvement.

The land of the transplanting has been completed during the week and the crop is making satisfactory advancement. The early set fields are especially promising.

The shipments out of storage reach 370 cases and six car loads of bundle goods from this market to all points for the week past, and 51 car loads of bundle goods were received.

It is seldom that a tobacco crop has had a better season than the one just planted in this state. From start to finish the weather conditions could hardly be more favorable for the transplanting of the crop. Frequent rains have tended to give set in the fields, so there has been hardly any checking of the growth in the transfer. But the wet weather has also given the cut worms a chance to work injury to the recently set fields, requiring some extra work to keep the full complement of plants standing. The conditions that bring about a rapid growth in the fields have also given the weeds a good start which now need attention. The outlook for the crop, however, is very promising at this date and the commencement of an early harvest seems certain. From this time on half is the most to be feared.

ANNUAL CONVENTION BEGINS NEXT WEEK

Dallas, Texas, is Making Big Preparations for Big Elks Reunion Next Week.

Dallas, Texas, July 10.—The first of the visitors to the annual convention and reunion of Elks, which begins in this city next week put in an appearance today. Headquarters for the convention have been opened and during the next two days the local committees will have their hands full receiving the visitors and assembling them to quarters. Accommodations have been reserved for twenty thousand visitors and it is expected the total attendance will reach twice that figure. Delegates will be present from every part of the United States, and from Canada, Mexico, Hawaii and the Philippine Islands.

The final touches have been put to the official program for Elks week. The formal opening of the grand hotel will take place Monday, and sessions will be held daily throughout the week. The opening exercises will be impressive and beautiful. The speakers will include Grand Exalted Ruler Tabor of Pennsylvania, Governor Campbell and Senator Culberson. The music for the occasion will be furnished by an orchestra of fifty pieces and a grand chorus of 200 voices.

The entertainment of the Elks will be on a scale never before attempted in this section of the country. A liberal donation from the city of Dallas has been augmented by a $100,000 subscription of the citizens. Beginning with next Sunday and continuing throughout the week without a break there will be something doing every hour of the day and evening.

The entertainment program provides for balls, barbecues, dinners, garden parties, band contests, competitive drills and pyrotechnic displays. One of the most novel features will be the Mexican dinner planned for next Tuesday. Forty thousand visitors are expected at this month's feast, which will be served in the commodious Park grounds.

The big parade, the principal feature of the annual gathering, is set down for Friday morning. This will culminate in splendor and spectacular effect any of the pageants ever witnessed in America. Twenty thousand men will be in line, the majority of them rich and picturesque costumes. There will also be a multitude of bands, among them some of the finest organizations of their kind in the United States.

The work of decorating the city is now nearing completion. The decorative and electrical display will surpass anything of the kind ever seen before in the Southwest. The center of the electrical display will be the great court of honor at the intersection of Main and Akard streets. The chief feature is a large and handsome arch made brilliant at night by thousands of electric lights. All the hotels, public buildings and business houses will have electrical displays on a large scale, and throughout the residential section there is a liberal display of flags and the purple and white of the Elks.

A SHATTERED DREAM

By Horace Seymour Kellor.

Ell Pivins was new to the city, but he had a purpose to put forth. Approaching a policeman he asked: "Know of a place where a fellow can find gals put up to pick an' choose from?"

"A few; mean a theatrical agency? Going to start a show, friend?" "Do I look much like a wire-dancer, a juggler or a clown in a pantyline? I mean a place where a man o' straw in the community can look the hat over, make a choice, plunk down the rhino an' take his birds hum, see? Know such a store?"

"What you mean is the bureau of information—" "Perhaps; but I can furnish all the furniture needed. What I want is somethin' in the line o' Jallier with soft, length o' reach an' good stayin' wind, see? Grace an' beauty don't cut no ice up on the farm when milkin' time comes an' when the hired yelp fur grub, see? I'm habber to be married ag'in as soon as I put my eyes on the proper sort—"

"I think I see. Try that place over there. Likely you can find the correct shade of goods you are after. Luck to you, old man."

With a smile the bluecoat turned away and sauntered down the street, while Ell Pivins crossed over and entered the doorway. He was ushered into a snugly arranged room with a fine rolltop desk at one side. He stood there twirling his hat nervously as he gazed at the very prettiest creature in the line of feminine divinites he had ever met. He felt young and boyish—and was only sorry he had neglected to have his beard trimmed and hilt cut before leaving the farm. Little thrills of hot and cold flashes passed up and down his backbone as a pair of blue eyes now and then looked over the top of the desk and nipped him to the floor. He couldn't move, let alone say a word. His tongue clove to the roof of his mouth. His feet seemed as if they weighed a ton each, he knew that his beard had never looked so much like spinach—he was a stump.

The fluffy hair that rolled up from that adubster brow sent a sob into his throat every time he glanced at it. Suddenly while he was in a mild state of insanity a musical voice told him to be seated. He fell with a thud into a chair, feeling positive that he was in paradise and in the company of one of the prettiest girls.

"By gosh! I've hit it, sure pop, the first time. Cricky, but I'm the lucky cuss! Wonder if it breathes, eats, walks an' is like other human beings?" Ell muttered under his beard as he sat dumfounded and stunned.

Finally after another short but painful pause the fair vision rose and revealed itself to the delighted Ell in all its grace and lovely personification of female beauty as it stepped from behind the desk. Her smile almost drove him mad, and he gasped long and deeply when she said in a voice that almost rubbed him of his senses and sent thrills of rapture to the very ends of his toes: "I take it you have business with me this morning."

"Well, I have, I don't have to look no further, that's all, I thought I'd have a long an' lonesome hunt afore I hit the proper sort o' goods I wanted. But luck is mine an' the hunt is over. I'm on the right track fast pop, by cricky! I thought I wanted left, long reach an' good stayin' wind. That dream has vanished like a frost in June. Grace an' beauty is the proper caper arter all on the farm. Your hair an' eyes an' the hull dem things about you hit me just to a T. I am ready to put my money on the star green, play my shuttle, sign the 'green' an' run long hunt just as fast as them ears'll take us with my prize."

"You seem rather particular as to the personal qualities of the servant you would hire—"

"Servant nuthin, mom. She's my queen o' diamonds, hearts an' the hull pack. When'll you be ready to trot hum with me an' make the farm a garden o' paradise?"

"Did you not come here for hired help?"

"Not much. I need a nice, leetle, clingin' wifey—"

"You have struck the wrong place—" "Lordy! An' you are not in the market?"

"Not since five years ago; good morning."

Ell went away with a sob in his throat, and spinach lowered.

St. Peter's at Rome.

From the beginning of the foundation to the time when St. Peter's could be said to be complete, three and a half centuries had elapsed, 18 architects had been employed, and 43 popes had reigned. The cost of the great church can never be known with exactness. At the end of the seventeenth century it had cost $50,000,000, without including the sacristy, bell-towers, etc. The last important work on the edifice was done by Pope Pius IX., on the four hundredth anniversary of the birth of Michael Angelo.

SIR ROBERT HART, THE MAKER OF NEW CHINA.

Copyright by Underwood & Underwood, N. Y.

London, Eng.—As the hulking form of the North German-Lloyd steamer York drew up alongside the Ocean Quay at Southampton yesterday, the figure of an aged, gray-headed man, clad in dark ulster and black bowler hat, leaped over the deck rails and threw a kiss to a woman somewhat younger in years, who waved to him from the quay.

This simple, unassuming traveler was Sir Robert Hart, the maker of modern China—the man whose word has been law in all matters of finance and trade to 400,000,000 subjects of an alien race. For 54 years he has been exiled from his homeland, and only once, for a brief period, during the last quarter of a century has Lady Hart, whom he thus affectionately greeted yesterday, been able to visit him at his residence in Peking. He has not visited England since 1873.

After a brief conversation with his wife and son, Sir Robert Hart, who said he was very weak and tired from the effects of insomnia, consented to a brief interview.

"You must understand," he said, "that I am only home on a year's leave, and being still a Chinese official, I am not free to discuss government affairs. It is 51 years since I last saw Southampton, and in that time the change in ocean going ships has been wonderful. They are floating palaces compared with the vessels of half a century ago."

"There has been one remarkable coincidence in connection with this voyage. When I left Southampton in 1854, I traveled in the P. & O. steamship Candia. The first vessel I saw after reaching Shanghai on my way home in April was the modern P. & O. steamer of the same name."

"As regards the general conditions of China, everything is going ahead. The people are becoming more closely knit together, and everything there are signs of progress."

"European ideas are undoubtedly making headway, but the Chinese do not assimilate anything rapidly. Motor cars, for instance, though I have never had one myself, are seen in Peking, but at present they are only very little used by the Chinese."

"Sir Robert Hart was naturally somewhat reticent in expressing his views on the 'yellow peril.'"

"A Man of Commerce."

"The Chinese are not warlike," he said, "in the sense generally understood, but they are formidable opponents when roused, as they are good fighters and are not afraid of death. It will take a long time to make them a strong military and naval power. Their forces, however, are steadily developing."

"It is in commerce that China threatens the western world most seriously. The millions of her great empire can live much more cheaply than European workers, and thus a formidable industrial and trade competition may be expected."

On reaching London Sir Robert drove straight to his house in Cadogan-gardens. He was greatly impressed with the changes that have taken place in his absence. Motor omnibuses, taxicabs and tube railways he had never before seen. Since he was last in London, also, whole streets of houses have been swept away.

Marriage Age Increased.
It is generally admitted that the marriageable age of women has advanced considerably of recent years. Many a bride has long left girlhood behind her before she exchanges her vows at the altar, and there seem to be few young men nowadays who care to assume the responsibilities of married life until they are in the financial position usually associated with middle age.—Woman's Life.

Neurasthenia Among Teachers.
The board of retirement of the New York board of education says that the most common disease among the teachers of that city is neurasthenia, or nervous breakdown. In most of the 345 cases that have come before the board in the three years of its existence most of them have been from this cause. Under the new order of things 310 women and 24 men have been retired.

BRYAN NAMED.
The gathering of Democracy at Denver have named William Jennings Bryan as their official standard bearer.

His nomination, a mere matter of form, was accomplished after scenes which have never been equalled in the history of this country.

Titled by the will of the Great Convention, the Denver convention merely followed out a cut and dried program.

Individuality was lost sight of and the men who shouted loudest and waved the biggest flags were merely puppets in the great game of politics.

Perhaps no man in the history of American politics has had such a career as has Bryan.

He is now the Democratic party of the United States. The old lines have been withdrawn, the bars thrown down and the radicals of all parties invited to flock to his standard.

Bryan typifies democracy. In the solid south, the Democratic south, many of the delegates fear they will not be able to swing their states into line at election.

In the Republican north many of the leaders of Democracy claim that former strong Republican states, black Republican states, will wind into the Democratic columns.

The Denver convention is not yet over. They still have work to do. The platform has been adopted, the Presidential nominee named, but all this was prepared weeks ago. It is now necessary to arrange for the campaign.

If a nomination by such methods as were used in Denver was all that was necessary for an election, Bryan could sit on his porch and eat watermelon until next spring when he would go to Washington. But it is a hard campaign that opens up before us. The fun has just begun.

IT WAS EXPECTED.
The Daily Janesville News, erstwhile a Democratic organ, has come out in undisturbed praise for former State Senator Hatten for United States senator.

It starts its campaign in favor of its pet with abuse for Isaac Stephenson. The Daily News and the Milwaukee Journal both are alike in their campaign methods. They believe the more truth they can use the better the public like them.

The only difference between the two sheets is that the editor of the Daily News holds a federal job now and calls his paper Republican, while the Journal man has no federal job and is a mugwump paper.

In order to be elected Mr. Stephenson does not need the support of either the Journal or the Daily News. His record since he became a United States senator is too clear and clean to be blemished by the vapors of a pair of lie-lings.

Mr. Hatten is a nice man but he is badly handicapped by the allies who have joined his standard.

few weeks off, his campaign has been full of promise for a victory at the primaries.

His standing as a Republican has never been questioned. He stands for the doctrine of the Republican party, has voted and worked for them in the past and if elected would be found in the list of Republican members of congress not voting with the democratic minority.

WHITEHEAD'S CHANCES.

Senator Whitehead has made a dignified campaign. He sought re-nomination only when repeatedly urged to do so by the multitude of his friends throughout the country. He is a man whose merits are well known, whose vote on matters of state importance are found on the records of the state senate and he stands for the best principles of Republicanism. In his nomination and election the county will honor a good and true man.

The rapidity with which the sufficient number of names were secured for various nomination papers this summer shows that the people had pretty nearly made up their minds who they wanted for office long before the candidates knew themselves.

Hitchcock has lined up his followers for genuine work for the coming campaign. No sluggards or pay drawers, or dreamers need apply. Young Mr. Hitchcock has a strenuous mind and to work for or with him means to hustle.

If Mr. Cooper decides to oppose Uncle Joe's chances for re-election as speaker of the House he will have the support of his democratic brethren, whom he has helped this past winter with his vote in time of need.

The Milwaukee Journal enjoys taking digs at men in public life. It amuses itself by besmearing the characters of all it comes in contact with.

Beloit is still in the air relative to the status of the saloons in that city. In eight of them liquors can be purchased, but in the other twenty-five all is dark and dreary.

Stephenson has broken no pledges in announcing his candidacy for re-election and his election was not complimentary, but a hard-earned battle.

When that Milwaukee auditorium is completed then perhaps conventions will not have to go so far west as Denver or even to Chicago to be held.

With four candidates in the field for sheriff, two for district attorney, and others for various county offices, the real fun begins.

Thus far Janesville has the first candidate for the assembly in the field in the person of Grant U. Fisher.

Never have the crops looked so good as they do this year. This is something worth considering.

Heart to Heart Talks.

ONE OF GOD'S HEROES.

He was a Mexican.
He was a laborer.
He wore ragged clothes.
He was also a hero.

Philip Ortiz, Mexican laborer, was employed as a section hand on the San Francisco branch of the Santa Fe railroad. One day after working on a piece of the track one man of the gang whose business it was to remove from beneath the rails a heavy jack forgot to do so.

The heavy vortubled limited came thundering along.
Ortiz saw that if the jack remained where it was there might be a frightful wreck. Without considering his own peril he leaped fearlessly on the track, hastily jerked the jack from its place and hurled it aside. The next instant he was struck by the engine and cut to pieces.

The train swept on, its occupants heedless of the mangled body that lay by the side of the track. On board the limited the passengers chatted and lolled and read and smoked, totally ignorant of the fact that the section man's life had been given for theirs.

Well, he was only "a greaser." But there's more of it.
Down in a small village in Mexico the man had a wife and children. Although a peon, he was unusually intelligent and very industrious. He was constantly receiving letters from home and was very proud of his little family. He had saved from his meager wages quite a sum of money. He intended going back to his home town in a few days to engage in business and to educate his children. He was—

But if you can't see the pathos, the pity of it all, why tell more or picture the grief in the little Mexican hut?
Is your heart big enough to respond to the heroism of a Mexican peon?
Is your mental horizon wide enough to know that God hath made of one blood all the nations to dwell together on the face of the earth?

Can your soul feel a thrill of pride in the death sacrifice of a brother in brown?
Then take off your hat to the bloody bundle of rags by the side of that railroad track and understand that under the mangled bronzed skin of that little Mexican once beat the true heart of one of God's own heroes.

He was a Mexican.
He was a laborer, but—
He was also a hero.

SHORT SERMON ON INNUENDO.

French Philosopher's Condemnation of Unworthy Action.

We would not wish to furnish a man of character or ruin his fortune by dishonoring him in the world; to stain the principles of a woman's conduct by entering into the essential points of it; that would be too infamous and mean; but upon a thousand faults which lead our judgment to believe them capable of all the rest; to inspire the mind of those who listen to us with a thousand suspicions which point out what we dare not say; to make satirical remarks which discover a mystery, where no person before had perceived the least intention of concealment; by poisonous interpretations, to give an air of ridicule to manners which had hitherto escaped observation; to let everything, on certain points, be clearly understood, while protesting that they are incapable themselves of cunning or deceit, in what the world makes little scruple of.—Jean Baptiste Massillon.

The Devil's Bible.

This wonderful volume is in the royal library of the royal palace of Sweden. It is a huge copy of the Bible written on 300 prepared snakes' skins. One tradition says that it took 600 years to complete this copy, which is so large that it has a table by itself. Another tradition asserts that it was done in a single night, owing to the assistance of his satanic majesty, who when the work was completed gave the monk a portrait of himself for a frontispiece.

However true this may be, there can still be found the illuminated likeness of the King of Darkness adorning the front page of the work. This book was carried off by the Swedes, during the Thirty Years' war, from a convent in Prague.—Sunday Magazine.

MRS. FRANK GOULD AND HER HUSBAND, FRANK J. GOULD.

New York.—Mrs. Frank J. Gould's petition for divorce lays bare the fact that private detectives, employed by Frank J. Gould, have continuously surrounded her during the past years of their married life. This is due to Mr. Gould's crazed jealousy of his young wife. These are the developments of the latest millionaire divorce scandal. It is learned today that Mrs. Gould's suit for absolute divorce was based on statutory grounds, and involves the name of a young lady, whose identity is not yet made known.

A spelle net of misconduct with the young woman will be alleged to have taken place three or four years ago off Sidney, Nova Scotia. There will be much testimony from former members of the Helderly crew.

This, it is said, was only one of a number of acts of misconduct to be charged by Mrs. Gould against her husband. The nature of the spelle acts not even Mr. Gould will know for several days, as he has not been served with the full complaint.

Under the law the papers in the case must be filed within 20 days after the serving of the summons. The public probably will never know the precise nature of the testimony offered in the suit, as it was declared a motion will be made to argue the

MORRIS IS SUFFERING WITH A BRAINSTORM

Man Who Has Been Selling Ice Cream Comes on Streets Asked Chief to Lock Him Up.

A. M. Morris, a young married man who has been selling ice cream cones and confectionery from a pushcart around evenings and working at one of the shoe factories by day, arrested Chief of Police Appleby on the street this morning and after informing the latter that he had been overtaken by a brain-storm, that he couldn't sleep, and that he feared that he might throw himself in the river, requested the officer to lock him up. Dr. Chas. Sutherland examined the man at the police station and gave it as his opinion that he was suffering with hypochondria, a mental disorder in which melancholy and gloomy views torment the afflicted person, particularly concerning his own health. Morris says that when these periods of melancholy come over him he sometimes resorts to the use of stimulants and that they generally fail to afford him anything more than temporary relief. Mrs. Morris says that her husband has been afflicted with these attacks at intervals for about a year past and strong drink has never been a contributing cause.

Mrs. Morris, Sheriff Fisher, and Chief Appleby went before Judge Sale this afternoon and filed a petition to have the man's mental condition examined with a view to having him sent to Mendota. Drs. Charles Sutherland and J. F. Pomeroy were delegated to conduct the inquiry and were expected to take it up before evening.

On the Wrong Trail. Sheriff J. U. Fisher was in communication over the long distance telephone today with the sheriff of Rock Island, Ill., regarding Edwin Thompson, the man who was convicted of trying to pass a bogus check on Heyman Binger and committed to the state penitentiary at Joliet for a year, on Tuesday last. The Ill.-Ark. authorities thought that he might be a man badly wired at there for forgery and horse-stealing and the descriptions corresponded very closely. It was learned this afternoon, however, that the individual wanted at Rock Island committed the offense on July 8, at which time Thompson was behind the bars here.

APOLOGY FROM LITTLE TOMMY.

Epistle That May or May Not Have Soothed Wounded Feelings.

Dear Teacher: My mother says I hafta apologize for drowen your pick-chure on the bored as if you was an elled made with curls and a long wisener on your chin which you could not help or me neither.

It was a mean thing to doo and I am sorry I did it but I could not help it because you stood there looked so mecherl with the curls and the wisener, and all and Jenny Ames dared me to doo it at recess.

I do not blame you for wippen me because I looked so much like you you had a purfick rite to be mad. If I was you I would be mad too.

My mother says nobody is so sensitive about her looks as a lady teacher, especially if she is a leetle offed but this was not to go in the letter.

If you only understood what is inside of boys heads naden them be mischeffuss you would be sorry for them for it is not exactly there fault.

I know you feel worse about it than I do because my wippen does not hurt now but a pickchure goes on forever.

Teachers have a hard enuf time goodness knows without bein shod how they look for a whole school to luff at.

Sometime if you do not care I will drowen you on the bored naked swate and yung and put your name under so everybody will know who it is and go no more for the present from your true friend and skoller, Tommy.

A Friend Indeed.

A party of Scotsmen had been having a little celebration in a Canadian township, and mistakenly were the steps on the homegoing in the morning. One fell by the wayside, and called for help from another wayfarer. The would-be good Samaritan tried to steady himself as he looked down upon the fallen one, and then settled matters by saying: "I canna help ye up, but I'll do doon aside ye."

Your Responsibility.
No life is just the same after you have once touched it. Will you leave a ray of hope or one of despair, a flash of light or a somber cloud across some dark life each day? Will you by thoughtless cruelty deepen the shadow which hangs over the life, or will you by kindness dispel it altogether? No matter how you feel or what is disturbing your peace of mind never allow yourself to send out a discouraging, a cruel or an unkind word or thought.—Success Magazine.

Care for Rubbers.
To prevent the heel plates of children's shoes wearing and cutting through their rubbers glue pieces of felt or thick dannel in the heels where the wear comes. The overbores will last much longer.

A New Cure.
A doctor whose practice lies mostly in the country districts was recently called to attend a plowman's boy, whom he found to be suffering from whooping cough. Among his instructions he told the mother to "put some tea in a bag and tie it around the boy's head." Next day he called again and was met at the door by the goldwife, who, in answer to his query, replied, "Aye, Jockie's a heap better the day, but the mice are a' deld."—Dundee Weekly News.

Property.
The last thing we need to be anxious about is property. It always has friends or the means of making them. If riches have wings to fly away from their owners, they have wings also to escape danger.—Tom Lowell's Address on "Democracy."

Tennessee's Stingiest Man.
Gallatin claims to have the stingiest man in Tennessee, if not in the world, and a premium is offered for his superior in closeness. He got married to a home girl to save expense. They walked around the square for a bridal tour. He bought her a nickel's worth of stick candy for a wedding present and then suggested that they save the candy for the children.—Danville Advocate.

Advantages of Wit.
Man could direct his ways by plain reason, and support his life by tasteless food; but God has given us wit, and flavor, and brightness, and laughter, and performers, to enliven the days of man's pilgrimages, and to "charm his polished steps over the burning marie."—Sydney Smith.

MRS. JAMES PASSED AWAY YESTERDAY

Old Resident of Evansville Died Yesterday Afternoon at Her Home.

Evansville, July 9.—Mrs. Mary James died at her home on Park street yesterday afternoon at four o'clock after an illness of several weeks of gastritis. Mrs. James was born in Montgomery county, New York, seventy-nine years ago, but has lived in this vicinity for many years and has been a resident of Evansville since 1885. She was married in 1851 to Chester James, who preceded her to the beyond twenty years ago. Seven children are left to mourn her loss, five daughters and two sons: Mrs. Eva Williams of Orville, Wash.; Mrs. Cora Dunne of New York; Mrs. Carlo Magee of Evansville; Mrs. Nellie Weaver, Miss Flora James and Fred L. James of this city, and J. E. James of Magnolia. Mrs. James was of a quiet unassuming nature, a loving mother and devoted to the welfare of her home and family. Her beautiful and sunny disposition will be a sweet memory to her children, one of whom was recently heard to say that he never knew her to speak an unkind or impatient word. She was a faithful member of the Free Baptist church and will be missed by a large circle of friends who sympathize deeply with the relatives in their hour of sorrow. The funeral services will be held Friday afternoon at two o'clock from the home. Rev. T. W. North will officiate and Mrs. P. C. Wilder and Mrs. D. E. Heddles will render the song service. Interment will take place at Maple Hill cemetery.

NOMINATE BRYAN ON FIRST BALLOT

DEMOCRATS PUT HIM AT HEAD OF TICKET FOR THIRD TIME.

CONVENTION IN A TUMULT

Votes Taken in the Early Morning Hours—Names of Gray and Johnson Also Are Presented.

Denver, Colo., July 10.—In the early morning hours of Friday William Jennings Bryan was nominated for the presidency by the Democratic national convention. Only one ballot was necessary, the Nebraska having an overwhelming majority of the votes.

Tired as they were, the delegates and spectators greeted the result of the ballot with roars of applause, and cheered about the hall cheering and singing.

Click Is Stopped.

Leading up to the nomination were hours that began with picturesque enthusiasm, which grew into uncontrollable disorder. The nominating speeches were made amid scenes akin to pandemonium at certain stages.

At 12 o'clock midnight the convention clock was stopped, so that constructively the nomination of Bryan would take place at Thursday's session of the convention. Will the Friday holiday be overcome by this technical evasion? Is a question that was in the minds of enthusiastic Bryan Democrats, as they wended their way from the convention hall in the early morning hours.

Wild Scene of Confusion.

A wilder demonstration than that over the first mention of Bryan's name on Wednesday followed the concluding word of the speech by Ignatius J. Dunn of Nebraska, which formally presented the name of Democracy's champion to the convention.

An hour and seven minutes, against the one hour and 28 minutes of the day before, marked the cheering and tumult, but the densely overcrowded auditorium made the confusion worse.

Nobody had any respect for the rights of anybody else. Everybody was there to see the spectacle, if not to take part in it, and those not able to look out for themselves were trampled upon.

Johnson and Gray Named.

Gov. John A. Johnson of Minnesota and Judge George Gray of Delaware were placed in nomination along with Bryan. Small as was the following of either, in comparison with that of the Nebraskaan, the scenes of confusion, owing to the uncontrollable size of the crowd, were approximately great.

Gov. Johnson was placed in nomination by Whitford Scott Hammond of Minnesota, Connecticut yielding to the Gopher state.

Gray's name was presented by Irving P. Handy of Delaware. Mr. Handy felt how sadly he was in the minority when, after he had talked awhile, the crowd attempted to choke him off.

Seconding Speeches.

Seconding speeches for Bryan were made by Senator Gearin of Oregon, Gov. Glenn of South Carolina, and Gov. Claude Swanson of Virginia. Gov. Glenn's speech created much excitement, being devoted largely to a defense of Bryan against attacks branding him as a Socialist. At the conclusion of his remarks, which were not in accord with the spirit of the convention, Permanent Chairman Clayton, who at the day session has superseded Temporary Chairman Bell as wolverine of the gavel, exclaimed that William Jennings Bryan needed no defenders, and elicited tremendous applause.

The opening session lasted three hours and brought about the completion of the permanent organization of the convention, with the resounding address of Congressman Clayton of Alabama, permanent chairman of the convention. When the session opened at night, every formality of organization had been accomplished and the decks were clear for the supreme work of adopting the platform and naming the candidates.

Clayton Delivers His Address.

The scenes within the convention amphitheater repeated those of previous days in the magnitude of the gathering and the eager enthusiasm of the throngs. There were frequent demonstrations as the names of party idols or Jeffersonian principles were pronounced, but there was no repetition during the early session of the tumultuous record-breaking demonstration of Wednesday.

The address of the permanent chairman, Mr. Clayton, proved to be a caustic arraignment of the failure of Roosevelt policies, and an enunciation of Democratic doctrine. The ringing voice of the orator and the emphasis of his gestures stirred the listening thousands to frequent demonstrations of enthusiastic approval.

At 2:30 o'clock the platform committee was not yet prepared to report, and the convention took a recess until evening, so that all remaining differences of detail on the platform could be reconciled and the document be ready for adoption and the presidential nomination be reached before the adjournment of the night session.

It was 7:50 o'clock when Chairman Clayton began to rap for order, which he secured within the minute.

Kerr Takes Cuff's Place.

Mr. Clayton recognized Mr. McKelton of Pennsylvania, who announced the selection of James Kerr as member of the national committee from that state in place of James M. Guffey, who was selected before the Pennsylvania contests were settled.

Otto James of Kentucky moved that a committee of three be appointed to wait upon the platform committee and ascertain when it would be ready to report. The motion prevailed and Mr. James, J. Thomas Heflin of Alabama and P. L. Lyche of Minnesota were named. Mr. Lynch's appointment was the first recognition of the adherents of Gov. Johnson had received in the choice of convention committees.

Pending the report of the committee of inquiry, Thomas P. Ball of Texas was invited to address the convention.

After his speech came talks by Senator Grady of New York, Judge Wade of Iowa and Champ Clark of Missouri.

Mr. Clark concluded with a tribute to Mr. Bryan as "the greatest living American."

Nominations Called For.

"The secretary will now proceed to call the roll of states for nominations for the office of president of the United States," shouted Chairman Clayton.

"Alabama," called the clerk.

The chairman of that delegation arose and was recognized.

"Knowing that Nebraska will make no mistake in nominating the right man," he said, "Alabama yields to Nebraska."

"I. J. Dunn of Omaha will speak for the Nebraska delegation," announced the chairman of that state, while the cheering which followed the first statement from Alabama continued unabated.

Dunn Nominates Bryan.

Mr. Dunn, who was to make that speech of the convention in which the greatest interest was felt by the delegates and the spectators, is scarcely of middle age. His clean-cut, determined-looking, clean-shaven face is surmounted by dark brown hair, which, owing to the emphatic manner in which he emphasized his speech with his head, was soon touching the center of his forehead. He spoke clearly and with a pleasing manner of delivery. As Mr. Dunn proceeded, almost every allusion he made to the character of Mr. Bryan was enthusiastically applauded, although he had not yet mentioned the name of the Nebraska candidate. When Mr. Dunn declared that his candidate was the choice of the militant democracy of the country the convention broke in with wild cheers. The ever-ready flags were tossed aloft and a roar of applause swept through the hall.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Janesville Daily Gazette, July 10, 1868.—St. Louis, July 10.—Dispatches from nearly every section of Missouri say the nomination of Seymour and Blair was received with great satisfaction, particularly that of Blair. A ratification meeting was held last night. Salutes were fired and all the various joyful ratifications were indulged in.

Pottsville, Pa., July 10.—There was a strike here today among the miners, in consequence of an attempt to reduce wages to correspond to the eight hour law. The miners demanded the same pay as before, which has been refused, and a mob of two hundred men are compelling workmen at the various collieries, railroad and other work shops to quit work. No serious damage has been done yet. Governor Geary says he will use force if necessary.

Erle, Pa., July 10.—The Erle express train on the Philadelphia and Erie railroad, which left Erie at 7:40 last evening, broke through a bridge at French Creek about three quarters of a mile out of Union Mills. The engine, tender and baggage car got over safely, but the two passenger cars went through the bridge, the hind car running over the top of the others and making a complete wreck. There was about five feet of water in the creek. Three persons were killed outright and eighteen injured. Halls of the bridge were found unscrewed and it is supposed that the bridge had been tampered with to plunder the train. Several passengers were crushed on the train while in the wreck, and baggage was broken open and robbed of valuables.

"Chase was biased." That is what the telegraph says in giving the history of the 21st ballot when Chase received four votes.

Only four votes and these votes biased. Is that all the reward the earned Chief Justice is to receive for the pains he has taken to get admitted into the copperhead fold? Will four votes and a few biases in Tammany Hall pay a great man for betraying his friend, disgracing his office, and staining his good name for all time? His vaulting ambition has overleaped itself, and posterity will like to read the story of his fall.
